

Improved Access Immunoassay Reagent Certificates of Analysis (CoA)

Now available on the Beckman Coulter website

August, 2016

Dear Valued Access Customer,

Beckman Coulter is pleased to announce updates to the Access immunoassay reagent Certificates of Analysis (CoA). These new certificates are now available on the Beckman Coulter website. The data provided on each CoA may help you evaluate any observed variance between two or more Access immunoassay reagent lots.

Enclosed is an Information Bulletin that provides you with instructions for accessing the new certificates from the Beckman Coulter website. The bulletin also includes a formula for calculating the percent difference between two Access immunoassay reagent lots.

If you have questions about the enclosed Information Bulletin or any Access immunoassay reagent CoA, please contact Beckman Coulter technical support.
